A worker uses a drill to break up large rocks on Ky. 78 on Thursday in Casey County. Large boulders spilled onto the roadway closing it after explosives intended to level a rock shelf projected them onto the highway.

Road closed by rockslide

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

A county road closed a week ago because of a massive rockslide remains partially impassable as state road crews work to clear the road.

And the closure has affected how Casey County School District buses run their routes in that area of the county.

"We have three routes affected — a pre-school route and one at Jones Park Elementary and Walnut Hill Elementary," said Craig Griffin, director of pupil transportation for the district.

Griffin added that rerouting the buses wasn't that big of a deal, it just took a little longer than usual.

The closure, in an area known as Turkey Foot Gap near where Ky. 906 ends at Ky. 78, is where Kentucky Highway Department workers were trying to remove a rock shelf overhang on Sept. 12.

"We had been up there trying to remove an overhang where we'd had periodic rock falls over the years," said Bill Chaney, with the KHD District 8 office in Somerset.

Chaney said that an independent contractor was on site to "drill and shoot" the rock overhang — when workers drill holes in the rock and then pack explosives into the holes.

But when workers set off the charges electronically, the rock did something it shouldn't have.

"It should have broken and slid down the face, but when the shot went off, the rock didn't act as predicted, it went out into the roadway," Chaney said.

State workers were to have the roadway opened with at least one lane on Thursday but school district officials said on Tuesday morning that because the road is open one day and closed the next, alternate routes will be followed until the road is open permanently.

Chaney said that once the rock has been removed, the road will be made passable with cold patch until crews can get there and repave it, which should be within the next few months.

Animal composting business begins operations in Casey

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

Seven buzzards circled high in the sky over a wooded area in west central Casey County scouting out their next meal.

But what they didn't realize was that at a farm a little more than a mile away, three large cows lay decomposing beneath a pile of compost material.

"Here we are next to three dead cows and there's no smell, nothing to attract buzzards to them," said Will Stallard, Casey County's agriculture extension agent.

Stallard and Casey County Conservation District Officer Pat Williams were at Brent Woodrum's 750-acre farm on Griffith Ridge Road to check on the dead animal disposal business which Woodrum began in mid-August.

With no dead animal disposal services in Casey County and with an estimated 1,200 head of fallen livestock annually, Stallard said this business is a welcome addition in the county.

"A farmer who has a dead animal either has to bury the animal or drag it to the back 40 for the buzzards and coyotes to take care of it," Stallard said, adding that these methods don't address the problem of the dead animal smell or body fluids that run off near streams and into other water sources.

LACKY

Woodrum and his son, Bart, a fifth-generation Casey County farmer, began operating the Large Animal Composting of Kentucky (LACKY) in mid-August on their farm on Griffith Ridge Road.

The operation, Brent said, basically involves taking a dead cow, horse, hog, feeder, goat or sheep and placing it on a two foot bed of sawdust or woodchips and then covering the dead animal with a three foot mound of the same material.

The Woodrums have a 28,000 square foot gravel pad that can hold up to 700 dead animals.

Raven Hatter and Emilee York have always been beside each other.

They stood together as contestants in the 2012 Miss Casey County Apple Festival beauty pageant Saturday night and they'll be beside each other as they help cut the world's largest apple pie this weekend.

Raven, 20, was crowned Miss Casey County Apple Festival and Emilee, 20, was named Miss Apple Festival on Sept. 15 at Casey County High School.

"We've been really good friends since middle school," Emilee said. "This was the second time we've decided to do (the pageant) together.

For results and photos from the 2012 Casey County Apple Festival children's pageants, Mrs. Casey County Apple Festival, Miss Preteen, Miss Teen and the Mother-Daughter pageants, see pages 8 and 9.

We were right beside each other the last time too, but this time we both came out with a crown."

This was Raven's fourth year trying for the crown. She had previously taken first and second runner-up. For Emilee, who had previously placed third runner-up and won Miss Congeniality, the third time was the charm.

"Honestly, I couldn't believe it," Raven said of being crowned.

Emilee felt the same way and even looked to Raven for conformation when her number was called.

"I was shocked. I looked at Raven for a minute and saw that she was jumping up and down," Emilee said. "Then I realized they really did say number 2."

CD proceeds to aid VetDog project

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

A local resident hopes that a just released recording of patriotic songs will remind people of the significance of the American flag and the sacrifices veterans have made to defend it. And he wants the proceeds from the sale of the CD to help wounded vets.

Delton Coppage, a member of the Apple Festival Committee, began thinking about the idea of making and selling a CD two years ago at the Apple Festival.

"In 2010, we did a salute to our veterans and the local VFW asked if they could bring a recipient of the VetDog program to the festival. When I met him and saw what the VetDog program had done for him, it put a burning in my heart to help the program," he said.

It was Chris Williams' story that spurred Coppage to action.

Williams served two tours in Iraq and suffers from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, a traumatic brain injury, cancer, diabetes and vertigo.

EDITORIAL

Dead animal disposal good for county

A persistent problem in Casey County is the disposal of more than an estimated 1,200 head of livestock that die every year and have to be disposed of properly. Most farmers either dragged the carcass to the back 40 for the buzzards to clean up or they buried it. Thing is, neither one of these is very advantageous for the environment as fluids from the dead animal can leach into ground water and buzzard droppings pose a health issue. With the opening of a dead animal disposal service in Casey County, we encourage farmers to use this service provided by Brent and Bart Woodrum on their farm on Ky. 49. And with the cost share service provided by the Casey County Conservation District, it's a win-win for the farmer and the county's environment.

Looking forward to Apple Festival

The week of festivities has finally arrived. I've been anticipating the Casey County Apple Festival since the first day I was hired as a staff writer for The Casey County News. Even during the interview process, the festival came up and it's continued to be mentioned in the news office at least once every other day. Now it's finally here — my first Apple Festival. I've driven through Casey County about a million times over the last eight years and frequently noticed the sign declaring the county the home of the Apple Festival. On one such occasion, I turned to my husband, Ian, and told him that we should go one year, but we never made it happen. I'm excited to experience what everyone in the county has been talking about. The Apple Festival is obviously a big deal in Casey County; that's probably an understatement.

When I spoke with Raven Hatter and Emilee York, 2012 Miss Casey County Apple Festival and 2012 Miss Apple Festival, respectively, they both mentioned how much they love the county they were born and raised in and how honored they are to participate in something that means so much to every Casey Countian. At 20 years old, they've attended about 20 Apple Festivals and I didn't get the feeling from them that they're getting tired of it even a little. But who could get tired of the world's largest apple pie? My coverage of the festival starts tonight, Wednesday, as I cover the county-wide devotional service, musical performances, carnival rides, youth rally and, of course, the giant chocolate chip cookie. (I already love this festival because of the giant food items — pizza, cookies, pie — yum!) Larry Rowell will take over Thursday night, but I'll be back Friday to find out how you make the world's largest apple pie. Larry tried to explain the oven that was specially made and how they put the ingredients into the giant pan, but I think it's something you have to see for yourself.

From the dog show and frog jumping contest to the parade and fireworks, I'm sure I'll have a good time.

The weather forecast for this week is looking great. Other than a chance of rain on Saturday, we really couldn't have asked for better weather. We put up with two days of heavy rain on Monday and Tuesday, thankful that those were also the two days this week without any festival events.

The staff at the news office has been offering advice since this is my first Apple Festival.

I'm sure I'll thank Larry a million times for telling me to put the festival schedule in a clear plastic case so that it won't get damaged throughout the week.

As veterans of the festival, I'm sure you know the way to get from point A to point B the fastest, which booth offers the best burger, what events you just can't miss and more.

Feel free to share your tips and let me know what is your favorite part of the Casey County Apple Festival.

It always does a body good to see someone who's totally dedicated to helping those who are struggling with life's issues.

In that vein, Delton Coppage and The American Flag Patriots come to mind.

If you read the story in today's edition about Delton making a CD of patriotic songs and selling it to use the proceeds to help wounded vets, it gives you a sense about how passionate he is in wanting to help wounded veterans.

Country western star Terry Wooley has graciously donated two songs, Delton has two songs and there's contributions from Rita Burton, Tamba Coppage and Jr. Abney.

One of Wooley's songs can be heard at www.terry-wooley.com.

All profits from the sale of the $10 CD and $12 DVD go to the VetDogs program, which trains dogs to help vets deal with stress disorder, physical wounds and other issues they bring home from the fields of battle from around the world.

I not only encourage you to buy a CD or DVD this week at the Apple Festival, I also want to let you know that a Kentuckian vet with a VetDog will be at Stage One on Saturday at 4 p.m.

If you don't want to buy the CD, then make a contribution to the VetDogs program at the VFW booth at the Apple Festival.

Also, come out and talk with Joe Roberts and let him share with you how he has been blessed to have a VetDog to help him.

Delton said that it takes about $30,000 to pay for the year-long training which pairs a dog with a vet.

That means he'll have to sell about 3,000 of these recordings to fund one Vet-Dog. And all proceeds will stay in Kentucky to help vets.

I have no doubt that Delton will sell the CDs as they now have a presence on the Internet on iTunes and Amazon.com. They're also being played on local radio stations.

While we're on the subject of veterans and the contribution they played in defending our freedoms in this great country, I want to briefly mention another great veteran, Greensburg's Dakota Meyer.

President Obama awarded Marine Sgt. Meyer the Medal of Honor in recognition of his acts of extraordinary heroism on Sept. 8, 2009, which saved the lives of 13 U.S. Marines and soldiers and 23 Afghans.

During a six-hour fire-fight, without regard for his own personal safety, Meyer repeatedly braved enemy fire in eastern Afghanistan by attempting to find and carry to safety members of his training team which were under heavy enemy fire.

Now comes word that some Afghan soldiers are questioning what Meyer and others said he did on that fateful day.

The Marine Corps thoroughly researched the events surrounding Meyer's heroic acts and declared them to be true.

And, by the way, the Afghan soldiers who dispute Meyer's actions are from the same group of soldiers being trained by NATO led forces. These are the ones who are traitorously killing the same men who are training them.

Sgt. Meyer, we are proud of you and what you did in Afghanistan. You went above and beyond the call to duty and you are a credit to the Armed Forces of the United States.

Gone nuts over beans

If I run into Connie Rousey Cundiff, I'm going to smack her into the next county. She has simply done me in and I'm going after her.

Before I tell you what she did, I need to let you know I love green beans. Fresh green beans, that is. I wouldn't give you ten cents for all the canned and frozen green beans in the world.

They don't taste good to me. All home-canned green beans have a funky taste that is so unpleasant. About all they're good for is putting in soup.

My favorite green beans are white half-runners or greasy beans (when you can find them). I have eaten my weight in them this summer.

I am dreading the end of the season when there are no more Casey County green beans to be had.

Back to Connie Rousey Cundiff. Last summer she gave a pint of something she had made to my sister. Connie called them "Dilly Beans." My sister told me to try one. Well, they were canned so I thought I would hate them. Not so! I wanted to sit down with that jar and eat until they were all gone. They were heavenly!

Joberta WELLS

Connie told me the source of the recipe and I decided I'd try canning a few Dilly Beans this summer. Good grief, a few turned into a bunch.

I started out with eight pints. I gave away three or four pints and I ate the rest. I had to have more! They were better than eating a bag of Cheetos and that is my ultimate snack.

The beans used in the recipe are those skinny beans with very little bean. I think Tenderettes or Blue Lake varieties are the best because they have very small beans in them and they are stringless. I went searching for them. The dang drought limited bean production and I was frantic trying to find them.

I got lucky, bought more, and canned another ten pints. I have eaten all of them!

Since that batch I have canned 26 more pints. I am trying to save them for winter but I feel the urge coming on to consume a jar.

Connie, why did you do this to me? I don't know whether to love you or hate you.

I have to admit that I tweaked the original recipe just a little but every batch, so far, has been delicious

Here is my version of Connie's original Dilly Beans recipe:

- 4 pounds young, tender green beans (preferably Blue Lake or Tenderette)
- 8 large cloves garlic
- 8 tsp. dill seed
- 4 tsp. mustard seed
- 8 hot, dried chili peppers (or crushed red pepper)
- ½ cup pickling salt
- 5 cups white vinegar
- 5 cups water
- Sterilize 8 pint canning

jars.

Rinse and trim the ends of the beans. Cut to size if they are taller than the pint jars.

Combine the water, pickling salt, and vinegar in a large pot, and bring to a boil. When it begins to boil, reduce heat to low, and simmer while you pack the jars.

Into each jar place the following: 1 clove of garlic, 1 tsp. dill seed, ½ tsp. mustard seed, and 1 hot chili pepper (or ¼ tsp. crushed red pepper). Pack the beans tightly into the jars in a standing position.

Ladle the hot brine into the jars, leaving ½ inch of headspace. Screw the lids onto the jars and process in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

Store at least two weeks before eating.

Oh, these things are good. Connie Rousey Cundiff, you are a hoot!

Skunk cancels local church service

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

While some church members can raise a “stink” causing problems in a church, one visitor caused a stink of another kind this past Sunday.

When members Clint and Christy Bowling arrived at Mt. Pleasant Church on West Ky. 70 about 8 a.m. to open the building, a foul and noxious odor greeted them at the front door, said Barbara Norfleet, Christy’s mother.

It became obvious, Norfleet said, that the odor was from a skunk.

“My grandson, Christopher

Spears, kept telling them that they needed to call the Turtleman,” she said, referring to Ernie Brown Jr. in Lebanon.

The Bowlings notified Norfleet and her husband Charles, who have been members for 40 years at the small country church of about 45 members.

Fellow church member Larry Bell met Charles at the church a few minutes later and the odor was so bad, Charles only made it 10 feet up the aisle of the church before being forced to retreat outside to escape the stink.

As it became obvious that the odor wasn’t going to be cleared before services began at 11 a.m., the decision was made to cancel services.

Before this encounter with a skunk odor, the only other creature Barbara could remember that invaded the church building was a mouse that ran across the floor one Sunday during services.

Barbara said that traps have been set, and the only offender that has been nabbed is an opossum.

“There’s a burrow hole near the foundation and we wonder if that’s where the skunk got under the church,” she said.

Because the foundation on the 100-year-old building is so low to the ground, it’s impossible to crawl under the church and set a trap, she said.

This week, church members have opened the doors during the day and placed fans to draw fresh air through the building.

Others have suggested placing saucers of white vinegar in the building to capture the odors.

But whether the odor is weakening because the doors are open or the skunk has left the building, it remains to be seen what will happen this weekend.

“The odor is getting weaker and we’re going to try and have church this coming Sunday,” she said.

Annual baby shower helps local moms

Pregnant women and moms of newborns under the age of 3 months were invited to attend the 4th annual Casey County Community Baby Shower on Monday.

Participants played games for prizes and received free clothes, toys and baby items.

Guest speakers taught talked about infant car seat safety and breastfeeding.

The annual shower is put on as a collaboration of several local organizations, including the Lake Cumberland District Health Department, Kids Now, Casey County Homemakers, Casey County Co-operative Extension Office and the Family and Youth Resource Services Center.

Representatives from the organizations were available to discuss services available to local mothers. One representative was Kelly Wilson with the Health Access Nurturing Development Services (HANDS) program,. HANDS is a voluntary home visitation program for new and expectant parents.

“It’s all been approved by the state Veterinarian’s Office. This is an eco-friendly and ‘green’ way to dispose of dead animals with no smell or other health issues,” he said.

Woodrum said that the internal temperature of the composting material, which reaches about 170 degrees, combined with flesh-eating bacteria in the animals, effectively dissolves the animal in about two months.

“There may be an ear tag left or a few bones, but they are so brittle that they break easily and we can grind them up,” Woodrum said.

The composting material can be reused about six times and then spread on Woodrum’s fields to control erosion.

Collection fees

A farmer with a dead animal contacts the Woodrums and they collect the dead animal usually the same day in what Woodrum calls a “mobile rendering platform,” a trailer with a 12,000 pound winch that pulls the animal on the trailer.

Woodrum said that the state vet’s office approved the custom built trailer which has special grates that filter any carcass fluids into a trap system so there’s no leakage. After the animal is buried, the trap and trailer are cleaned with bleach and lime.

As to collection fees in Casey County, LACKY will charge $52.50 to pickup cows and bulls, $42.50 to pickup feeders, goats, sheep, and swine, and $72.50 for horses.

If a farmer schedules a delivery of a dead animal to LACKY, then $12.50 can be deducted from the pickup fee.

Plans are being made to branch out and collect animals from surrounding counties, Woodrum said.

“We’re not trying to get rich here, just creating another revenue stream to stay on the farm,” Woodrum said.

Cost sharing

To promote the importance of proper disposal of dead farm animals and to make farmers aware of this pickup and disposal service in the county, the Casey County Conservation District has started the Deceased Farm Animal Disposal Program.

“Beginning Oct. 1, the CCCD is offering a 50 percent cost share assistance to Casey County farmers who use LACKY,” Williams said.

The eligible landowner — a Casey County farmer with a Casey County F.S.A. number — pays the Woodrums the full pickup or delivery fee and then brings their receipt to the CCCD office on Wallace Wilkinson Boulevard for a 50 percent cost share, he said.

“Any way that you look at it, with the cost share program, $26.25 to have a dead cow removed is a bargain,” Williams said.

MEETINGS BRIEFS

East Casey County Water District

East Casey County Water District is one step closer to securing the last road frontage site needed before bidding can start on its $1.5 million-project.

The Casey County School Board approved to give EC-CWD a 50 by 50 foot site below the bus garage on Easy Ky. 70 for a pump station, said ECCWD Manager Andy Greynolds at the meeting on Sept. 11.

The water project, funded with a low-interest state revolving loan, includes about 20 miles of new water lines, a 200,000-gallon water tank, two water pumps and one pneumatic pressure tank building.

The deeds still need to be signed for all four road frontage sites, ranging from 25-by-25 feet to 100-by-100 feet.

Liberty City Council

The Liberty City Council agreed to have the Lake Cumberland Area Development District rewrite a comprehensive plan for the city at a cost of $15,000 during its regularly scheduled meeting on Sept. 12.

Mayor Steve Sweeney will begin speaking with electrical engineering firms to see how much it will cost to have them map out where street lights should be placed along North U.S. 127. The new light poles will extend coverage along the northern part of the bypass.

The city made an annual donation of $5,000 to the Liberty-Casey County Chamber of Commerce.

Casey County Fiscal Court

Casey County Fiscal Court magistrates received tax rates on Monday from the Casey County Library Board at 8 cents per $100 for real property and 14.14 cents for personal property, Casey County Health Taxing District at .043 for real and personal property, and the Casey County Ambulance Tax District at 2.20 cents for real and personal property.

Magistrates also adopted a resolution stating that any construction funds borrowed from Casey County Bank for the Casey County Community and Education Center will be repaid according to the terms of the loan.

Also, magistrates approved a resolution for a $48,000 Rural Development Grant that would be used to purchase two police cruisers for the Casey County Sheriff’s Dept.

Casey County Board of Education

In a public hearing on Sept. 12 which no local residents attended, the Casey County Board of Education adopted an increased tax rate for Fiscal Year 2013. The board had voted in its Aug. 13 meeting to adopt the 4 percent rate.

The increase raises the current compensating tax rate from 39.9 cents per $100 assessment for both real and personal property to a 4 percent rate of 41.4 cents per $100 assessment.

That translates to an increase of $7.50 annually for property owners assessed at $50,000 and $15 for those owning property valued at $100,000.

The increase in revenue from the tax will amount to approximately $92,000 in FY13, said Deena Randolph, Director of District Wide Services.

Even at 41.4 cents, Casey County’s School District has the lowest rate among neighboring counties. Danville has the highest rate at 79.9 and Lincoln County has the next to the lowest rate at 43.9 cents.

Elect Judy D. Vance Circuit Judge

To the voters of Casey County,

As election time draws near, I wanted to take the opportunity to introduce myself and my family to all of you. I am a candidate for Circuit Judge in Casey and Adair counties, which is on the ballot this November.

I am a graduate of Adair County High School and Lindsey Wilson College. Upon graduation from law school, I returned home to this area to work and raise my family. Being raised on a family farm myself, I knew that I wanted my children to grow up in a similar environment, enjoying life in the country and growing up in a small town.

I have been married to my husband, Patrick, for 17 years. Patrick works in Liberty at the IOP of Casey County Hospital. Patrick and I have been blessed with three daughters. Courtney is 9 years old, Kaylee is 4 years old, and Chloe has just celebrated her second birthday.

Patrick and I are active members of the Glensfork United Methodist Church, where we both devote our time each week teaching in our church’s children’s ministry.

Upon graduation from law school, I fortunately had the opportunity to work as a law clerk with our late Circuit Judge, James G. Weddle. Through this experience, I learned about the legal system from a judge’s perspective, taking note of the fact that each case is unique and deserving of the court’s time.

I next worked as the Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney for Casey and Adair Counties, prosecuting felony cases and presenting cases to the grand jury. I quickly learned the nobility of a prosecutor’s position, through seeking justice for victims of crime and helping to keep our community safe.

After four years at the Commonwealth’s Attorney’s office, I decided to go into private practice, and I am now in my seventh year of doing that. During this time, I have handled many different types of cases, including divorce, custody, criminal defense, civil litigation, bankruptcy, debt collection, personal injury, and land disputes. I have also spent a countless number of hours serving as an advocate for children in neglect and abuse cases in our court system.

As the November election approaches, I will be meeting with many of you to personally ask for your vote. However, with two counties to cover, it will not be possible for me to see everyone. When you go vote, I am asking you to consider my experience with all types of cases that come before the Circuit Court, my commitment to preserving family values, and my desire to serve the people of Casey County and Adair County by providing a fair and impartial courtroom. Thank you for your time and consideration.

From the family of Kylee Simmerman:

Words cannot express our appreciation and gratitude for the hundreds of cards, phone calls, texts, emails, visits, food, prayers, flowers and other expressions of sympathy. We will never forget these acts of kindness at such a difficult time in our life. We are especially grateful to the people of St. Joe for providing the St. Joe Community Center for the bereavement meal.

AGRICULTURE NEWS

Late summer insects

Despite the mild winter experienced through much of the nation, insect pest populations have been mostly below average in Kentucky.

However, as the summer season continued, weather patterns made it favorable for insects to begin migration, especially in southern states. There have been reports of increasing numbers in the corn earworm, fall armyworm, and yellow-striped armyworm populations in various crops.

While the corn earworm can be a pest of field corn and soybeans, this insect is also a serious pest of sweet corn and tomatoes. The corn earworm has other names including soybean podworm, tomato fruitworm, and the cotton bollworm. Even with low numbers through much of the summer, growers need to monitor soybeans and vegetables for this pest.

The fall armyworm is an infrequent invader in Kentucky but can be a problem in late planted field corn. You can recognize this brown caterpillar by an inverted light-colored 'Y' on its head. Even though there was below-normal rainfall this summer, recent rains have initiated a flush of grass growth around ditches and waterways. The fall armyworm strips these areas and moves into nearby crop fields, particularly soybeans and other grain crops. Growers in Western Kentucky counties specifically need to monitor field margins for migrating caterpillars.

Will STALLARD
County Extension Agent for Agriculture

A third pest making a late-season surge is the yellow-striped armyworm. This is a pest of many vegetables, including tomatoes, peppers, fall cole crops and tobacco. This caterpillar is both a leaf and fruit feeder. The mature caterpillar is easy to recognize as it is almost black in color with two thin yellow stripes running the length of its body.

With these late season pests, growers should monitor their fields regularly and only use recommended insecticides as necessary. Regular monitoring usually means weekly visits to the field. With late-season applications, growers need to pay close attention to required Pre-Harvest Intervals.

Fiscal court addresses '666' issue

ADAIR COUNTY — For two months in a row, Adair County Fiscal Court has discussed whether to remove three ornamental ironwork symbols atop the Adair County Courthouse.

Critics say that that the symbols resemble three 6s which many Christians consider the mark of Satan in the New Testament Book of Revelation.

Local minister Troy Strange asked the court to remove the symbol but was told that a grant to preserve the courthouse stipulates that it cannot be altered or the grant would have to be repaid.

Magistrates will look at regulations concerning the grant and take up the matter in next month's meeting.

Suit against superintendent goes to federal court

BOYLE COUNTY — A Danville school employee who filed a lawsuit against Superintendent Carmen Coleman and school board members will be heard in federal court in Lexington.

Sharon Faul filed suit last month in Boyle Circuit Court accusing Coleman of demoting her from director of the district's Family Resources and Youth Services Center because Faul challenged Coleman's role in the hiring of another employee.

The lawsuit states that Faul's change in position to instructional aid after the 2011 school year violates her due process rights under the Kentucky constitution and the state's Whistleblower's Act.

However, attorneys for the defendants argued that the matter belongs in federal court because it raises questions about employee discrimination and civil rights.

In the lawsuit, Faul alleges Coleman intervened in the hiring for a vacant assistant position within the resource center last fall. The center's hiring committee, which included Faul, proposed two finalists, both black women who were qualified for the position, the lawsuit states.

Coleman passed on the committee's recommendation and hired another district employee for the job "without input or agreement from the committee," the lawsuit states.

Prisoner tries to dig out of jail

LINCOLN COUNTY — A Lincoln County Jail prisoner was indicted for trying to dig his way through a shower wall.

Andrew Scott Conner of Stanford has been charged with second-degree attempted escape for "digging a hole through the outside wall of the detention center" and first-degree criminal mischief for doing more than $1,000 of damage to the jail.

Conner was originally arrested on May 28 and charged with manufacturing methamphetamine after police found meth labs at his residence. He is being held on a $50,000 cash bond.

Lincoln County Jailer David Gooch said Conner attempted to dig through a wall with a piece of a shelf that was used to hold a TV.

State representative's granddaughter dies in accident

MARION COUNTY— Mia Kylee Simmerman, the 3-year-old granddaughter of State Rep. Terry Mills, was pronounced dead Sept. 12 at the UK Medical Center after being found unresponsive at her home.

"It's a tragic accident and we're grieving. We're grieving hard," Rep. Mills said.

Kylee is the daughter of Terri Lee Mills and Andy Simmerman of Lexington.

He said his understanding is that Kylee somehow opened a "bean bag" and climbed inside. When her father didn't see her, he called 911.

Rep. Mills said his understanding is that emergency personnel initially searched outside before Kylee was found inside the house.

The Fayette County Coroner's Office determined that asphyxiation was the cause of death.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney faces DUI charge

PULASKI COUNTY — Assistant Pulaski Commonwealth's Attorney Jeremy Bartley has been arrested in Russell County on a DUI charge.

According to a Kentucky State Park Ranger citation, Bartley, 35, was stopped at a road block in Jamestown last Sunday night.

"An odor of an alcoholic beverage was emanating from his person," the arrest citation states.

Rangers said Bartley appeared intoxicated while attempting to perform field sobriety tests and then blew a .124 on the breathalyzer test. The legal limit in Kentucky is .08.

Commonwealth's Attorney Eddy Montgomery said no immediate disciplinary action has been taken against Bartley.

Two children die in fire

RUSSELL COUNTY — Two 4-year-old boys died as a result of a fire Saturday night in Russell Springs.

Firefighters responded just after 9 p.m. to a mobile home across from Veterans' Fairgrounds.

Fire was seen coming from the rear bedroom window where the two boys, Hector Aaron Curry, of Columbia, and Hayden Aaron Oseguera-Paxtian, of Russell Springs, were.

Because of the heat and smoke, family and neighbors were unsuccessful in attempts to reach the boys.

The bodies of the boys, described as best friends, were retrieved from the home soon thereafter, but efforts by emergency personnel to resuscitate them were unsuccessful.

The cause of the fire has not been determined and remains under investigation by the state police arson investigation unit, the ATF, the state fire marshal's office and the Russell Springs Police Department.

Library warns patrons about viewing pornography

TAYLOR COUNTY — Those who use the library's computers to view inappropriate material are on notice.

At the Sept. 17 regular Taylor County Library Board meeting, members discussed beefing up the library's Internet filters to make viewing explicit websites even more difficult.

Library Director Julia Turpin said library staff members noticed a rise last month in patrons using the library's computers to view inappropriate material.

If someone is caught viewing inappropriate websites, Turpin said, they are forced to leave the library and can't come back for several weeks. If it happens again, she said, the person is banned from the library completely.

HOROSCOPES

September 19-25

CAPRICORN

December 22-January 19

Capricorn, you are at a turning point in your life and it could be a good time to make a few important changes. This may involve a new career or making new friends.

AQUARIUS

January 20-February 18

Aquarius, even if you have a lot to get done, you will be able to think on your feet and make changes as needed depending on the situation this week.

PISCES

February 19-March 20

Actively explore your impulses in the next few days, Pisces. You may not have the opportunity to do so later on.

ARIES

March 21-April 19

Aries, relaxing for a few days seems like the perfect idea, but restlessness will ultimately thwart these plans. Engage in low-energy activities, instead.

TAURUS

April 20-May 20

Taurus, you might find it difficult to ask for what you desire, but you just have to buckle down and make a stand. It may not be easy, but your efforts will prove fruitful.

GEMINI

May 21-June 21

Gemini, you are in your element this week and the good vibes will last for several days. There's no pressure to get things done, so keep on sailing.

CANCER

June 22-July 22

Cancer, it may seem like a good idea to retreat to a fantasy world when the going gets tough, but you'll need to have your feet and mind firmly planted in reality this week.

LEO

July 23-August 22

Leo, it is good to be optimistic, but it also helps to develop a plan in case things don't go your way. Ask a friend or family member for help when devising your plan.

VIRGO

August 23-September 22

Virgo, concentration comes naturally to you, so don't worry if some extra work at the office is presented at the last minute. Ask a coworker for help, if necessary.

LIBRA

September 23-October 22

You are eager to listen and learn, Libra, but you also want to share your own experiences. This week you will need to find a balance between being a student and a teacher.

SCORPIO

October 23-November 21

Scorpio, think things through before making big decisions. There is some pressure on you, but concentrate and focus on the task at hand.

SAGITTARIUS

November 22-December 21

Make some decisions now before you change your mind again, Sagittarius. Too much information can cloud your judgement, so go with your gut.

local girls to participate in the pageant.

"It thrilled the Apple Festival Committee that we had two winners from Casey County this year — out of all the girls that came from other counties," said Deva Hair, chairperson of the committee.

Raven and Emilee graduated from Casey County High School in 2010 and are currently roommates at Eastern Kentucky University. Raven is pursuing a bachelor's degree in forensic science with a focus in biology. York is studying nursing.

The girls competed in a judges interview prior to the on-stage competition, which was in both swimsuits and evening gowns.

"My favorite part was probably the interview," Raven said. "The judges were really nice and easy to talk to."

Emilee enjoyed getting dressed up for the evening gown competition. However, neither enjoyed the wait for the winners to be announced.

"It feels like it takes forever to get through it," Emilee said.

But the anticipation was worth it and both girls thank their friends, family and hairdressers for convincing them to compete.

"I actually wasn't going to do it this year," Raven said.

The girls will be attending Apple Festival activities throughout the week. Raven is looking forward to the Apple Festival parade on Friday, while Emilee is most excited to help cut the pie on Saturday.

"I love my town and I love is here," Emilee said. "And to be able to represent the Apple Festival during something that's so big in our county — it's a great thing. I think it'll be a lot of fun."

They will make their first appearance tonight at the serving of the big cookie at 7 p.m.

Raven will get the opportunity to represent the Casey County Apple Festival again when she competes at the state level in January.

"I think I can represent Casey County well because I as born and raised in Casey County," she said.

Raven is the daughter of Mike and Rhonda Hatter of Liberty. Emilee is the daughter of Tony and Katie York of Liberty.

First runner-up in the 2010 Miss Casey County Apple Festival was Chandler Wade, 17, of Russell Springs. She is the daughter of Darren and Melissa Wade. Chelsea Tutko, 20, of Bowling Green took second runner-up. Chelsea's parents are Michelle and Joey Tutko.

Bayli Boling, 17, of Owensboro was third runner-up. Her parents are Vicki and James Ellis. Fourth runner-up went to Allie Hash, 21, of Campbellsville. Allie is the daughter of Anthony and Denise Hash.

The 2012 Casey County Apple Festival kicked off on Friday with the Miss Apple Festival Teen and Miss Apple Festival Preteen pageants.

The events continued on Saturday with the Miss Casey County Apple Festival, Mrs. Casey County Apple Festival and Mother/Daughter pageants crowning their winners. Results and photos from these can be found below.

2012 Apple Festival Notes

Apple Festival 5K

The Casey County High School cross country team will again be hosting the Apple Festival 5k Run/Walk. The race will be held at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 22. Participants pay a $20 entry fee. Registration will take place up until race day at 7:45 a.m.

The race will begin near the courthouse and follow the same route as the Fourth of July race held earlier this year, which the cross country team also helped organize.

The race finishes at Triangle Park and an awards ceremony will be held afterwards.

Students in grades 1-8 may qualify by winning a spelling competition in their respective homerooms or language arts classes.

Home school children may qualify by winning a preliminary competition with other home schooled children.

For more information, contact Barbara Jeffries at 606-787-8092.

Parade

The Apple Festival parade will be Friday, Sept. 21 at 6 p.m. The theme is "Lights, Camera...Apples!" Float prizes will be $300 for first place, $200 second and $100 third.

Lineup will be the same but new rules for horses include a valid Coggins and health certificate; everyone under age 16 will be required to wear a riding helmet; and entry fee is $5 per horse or unit (wagon, etc.)

Horses will be in back of parade and viewers are asked to not crowd the horses and give time for cleanup.

For more information contact Shirley Dalton, 606-787-2314 or Dale Hoskins, 606-303-3315.

The Miss Apple Festival Pre-Teen Beauty Pageant attracted 32 contestants to the Casey County High School Gym on Friday night. The winners were, from left, fourth runner-up, 11-year-old Katelyn Michele Corbin of Jamestown, daughter of Greg and Jody Popplewell; third runner-up, 10-year-old Lauren Presley Grant of Columbia, daughter of Anthony and Keena Grant; second runner-up, 12-year-old Kallie Stotts of Columbia, daughter of Adrian and Ashley Stotts; first runner-up, 9-year-old Abigail Rather of Scottsville, daughter of Geoff and Misty Rather; and the winner, 12-year-old Brandi Danielle Powell of Columbia, daughter of Buddy Powell.

Apple Cook-off

The Casey County Homemakers kick off the Casey County Apple Festival each year with an apple cook-off contest. With an adult and youth division, the event invites participants to bring their best apple desserts for judging. This year's winners were, from left, Marcie DeHart, second place with her hot cooked apple salad; Harley DeHart, third place in the youth division with his apple sauce; and Melody Hodge, who won first and third place in the adult division. Her winning recipe was an apple streusel muffin.

2013 Distinguished Young Woman

By Amanda Cole
Staff Writer

Seven Casey County senior girls are seeking a title and the opportunity to fulfill their dreams.

The title is 2013 Distinguished Young Woman (formerly known as Junior Miss) and co-directing the scholarship program this year are Angela King, whose daughter, Leann, won the title last year, and Kay King, a former regional director and member of the Kentucky Junior Miss Board.

"I'm really pleased with how everything is going. We've got a good group of girls," Angela said. "We have a very good selection of talent."

Casey's Distinguished Young Woman program starts at 5 p.m. Sunday at the CCHS gym; doors will open at 4 p.m.

This year's program will have an 80's theme and Rita Dixon Harris, 2004 Junior Miss, will emcee the event. Entertainment during the judges' deliberation will be provided by Center Stage Dancers and Ashley McQueary, who won the talent award in last year's competition.

Both Angela and Kay are strong supporters of the program.

"I'm a believer. I'm sold on the program," Kay said. "It gives every girl a chance to pursue their dreams and the opportunity to get the help they need to get their education."

The seven contestants will be competing for college scholarship money as well as the DYW Medallion and the right to represent Casey County at the state program in January. It will be held at the Singletary Center for the Arts, with the winner there advancing to the national program, which takes place in June in Mobile, Ala.

Prior to the public portion of the program, the girls will have an interview with judges that counts for 25 percent of their score. Scholastics account for another 20 percent.

"Forty-five percent of their score is done before they even step out on the stage," Kay said. "I always emphasize, this is not a beauty pageant. This is to find the best all around woman."

During the program, the participants will compete in physical fitness (15 percent) with a dance routine; talent (25 percent), where each girl is given 90 seconds to showcase her skills; and poise/self-expression (15 percent), where she will answer an on-stage question.

This year's committee has worked hard to generate scholarship money and prizes, Angela said.

The winner of DYW will receive a $1,000 cash scholarship, the 2012 GYW Medallion, an arm bouquet from Kathy's Flowers, and a one-year membership to Better Bodies Health & Fitness.

Lee, team win first place in ELI business concept competition

Casey County's Madison Lee was a member of The Center for Rural Development's 2012 Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute (ELI) first-place winning team.

Lee and her team won first-place in the Business Concept Competition and were recognized on Sept. 10 at the EIEA luncheon for the region's top small business owners and entrepreneurs at The Center in Somerset.

The "Jam Good" team included high school students Savanna Noe, Lee County; Rachyl Harmon, Clay County; Ethan Call, Pulaski County; Madison Lee, Casey County; and Kimberly Brown of Knox County.

Each team member was presented a framed certificate and will receive an offer of a Presidential Scholarship from Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond.

The "Jam Good" team won the competition earlier this summer while attending The Center's ELI youth leadership program. The ELI participants worked as a team to craft a business concept for a start-up agri-tourism business, where farm-friendly families could pick their favorite seasonal fruits right from the patch and make or purchase fresh, homemade jams and bakery products at the "Jam Good" country store and bakery.

CHAPTER 2

"I can't imagine what's in the box," Chloe said as we drove home from our appointment with Doc Albert.

"Maybe it's a bottle of pills or vitamins," I suggested.

"I thought about that, Woody," Chloe said, "but Doc has never put our medicine in a big cardboard box and told us to wait until we get home to open it."

Chloe had a point. Judging from the way Mom and Dad were looking at each other, I knew they were stumped, too.

"Maybe it's an exercise video to help us get in shape," Chloe offered.

"Maybe it's a treadmill," I said, hoping I was wrong.

"Why are you giggling?" I asked Chloe, Mom and Dad.

"I was remembering the time you turned the treadmill up too fast and you flew across the room," Chloe said, her giggling turning to laughter. "Do you remember that, Woody?"

"How could I forget? I started out running on all fours, and the next thing I knew I was doing somersaults in the air and landed smack-dab on the head of the lady riding the stationary bicycle. It knocked the cuckoo out of me. And her too!"

Everyone roared with laughter. "Anyway, the box isn't that big and heavy," Dad said.

"There are hundreds of ways to exercise without equipment, videos or gym memberships, pups," Mom told us. "We can exercise in our back yard."

"Really?" Chloe and I asked at the same time.

"Sure," Dad replied. "We can play tug-of-war, fetch or could go for a walk."

"Without our leashes?" I asked, hopeful.

"You know the rules. You have to walk with your collar and leash. It's for your safety," Mom explained.

Chloe and I looked at each other, and I saw my sister raise her eyebrow as if to say, "At least we tried." Once in a while we were able to play outside without our leashes, but only if we were in a fenced-in area. I didn't like it, but I knew it was for our safety.

Once we were home, Dad carried in the box and placed it on the living room floor. Then he opened the box that contained the recipe to our wellness.

Rx for Woody, Chloe, Mom and Dad Congratulations! The four of you are enrolled in Kentucky Boot Camp. The trainers of boot camp will provide all the information. Each envelope contains a prescription. When you finish completing the task, you are to open the next envelope contained in this box.

"Kentucky Boot Camp?" I said, interrupting before Dad finished reading the instructions. "I've never heard of Kentucky boots — and I can't imagine why they need their own camp. Soccer camp? Basketball camp? Band camp? Sure! But boot camp? Seriously?"

"Woody," Dad said as he laughed and shook his head. "Boot camp normally refers to military training, but it can also refer to any type of training activity where people are trying to get in shape. I'm assuming Kentucky Boot Camp is a program to help people get in physical shape while they explore various parts of Kentucky. Do you mind if I keep reading?" Dad asked while everyone giggled.

If you follow the directions on your prescription exactly as it says, you will lower your cholesterol, blood sugar, lose any excess weight and feel better. The best part is you won't have to swallow nasty medicine or endure any painful shots. Boot camp won't be easy. Remember, you didn't develop unhealthy habits in one day and you won't develop healthy habits in one day. You'll be finished with your medicine when you have opened every envelope and completed each activity.

When you finish reading this letter, open the envelope labeled Rx 1.

Good luck!

Doc

Mom reached in the box, retrieved the envelope labeled Rx 1 and read it aloud.

"Pack your backpack for camp. You'll need loose-fitting clothing, comfortable walking shoes, sunscreen and lots of water. No electronics are permitted, but one cell phone per family is allowed. You'll meet your first camp trainer, Sam, in the morning at Exit 33 off the Mountain Parkway. Be there at 8 a.m. sharp!"

No electronics, no sleeping in tomorrow morning! Yucky medicine was looking better all the time.

VolleyRebs ranked No. 2 in the district

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent
The VolleyRebs finished out their regular season district play last week with wins over both Rockcastle County and Somerset. The team is ranked number two in the district with a 5-2 record and are now 13-8 for the season.

vs. Rockcastle

Casey took on Rockcastle County for the third time this season on Sept. 11. The VolleyRebs again proved their dominance over the Rockets in a 3-0 win.

“It was good. We played good and we played well together,” said Coach Veronica Sengkhamyong.

The team took a 25-15 win to start the game, but Rockcastle posed a challenge at the end of game two. Casey came out on top after pushing the score to 27-25.

The VolleyRebs closed out the night in game three with a final 25-17 victory.

Kaitlyn Todd led the team with 17 good serves. Shelby Stringer put up 12 kills, while Allison Clark had nine digs. Sarah Beard continues to be team’s pivotal setter with 50.

vs. Somerset

The VolleyRebs held their annual Volley for a Cure event on Sept. 13 where they sported their pink uniforms, surrounded by a sea of pink fans. Casey defeated district opponent Somerset, 2-0.

“I think the atmosphere (played a part in the wins),” Sengkhamyong said. “We had a bunch of boys and fans who put on pink suits and I think it was just the whole camaraderie.”

Varsity took two clean sweeps to make it a short night, 25-10 and 25-12.

The money from Volley for a Cure was donated to the Susan G. Komen Foundation this year.

“It’s just a really close thing to my heart and I hope we can continue it for many, many years,” said Sengkhamyong.

Beard led in sets as well as good serves with 13. Clark had the most digs and kills with 11 and 8 respectively. Kayla Wilson put up four aces.

The fundraising night also brought triumphs for both the freshmen and JV teams, as well as bringing a big individual triumph for one VolleyReb.

While not an official school-kept record, the team’s most consecutive good serves was broken by Tyra Sengkhamyong during the junior varsity game.

Allison Clark had held the record at 16 consecutive good serves in a game until Sengkhamyong scored 17 in a row against Somerset.

“It’s something that we just keep a record of (unofficially),” said Sengkhamyong. “We’ve had trouble with consecutive serves so it’s something we did to see, ‘how many serves can you get over.’ It just helps build it up.”

The VolleyRebs take a break from play this week and return to action in two weeks when they host Taylor County at home on Sept. 25.

Rebel football team loses to Fairview 69-29

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

The Rebel football team traveled to Fairview on Sept. 14 to take on the undefeated Eagles. Casey was defeated 69-29 to bring their season record to 1-4.

“It was a really good football team,” Coach Sam Marples said on the opponent. “The biggest thing was how weightlifting strong the team was. They were able to win the battle on both sides of the ball most of the night.”

Fairview went up 6-0 immediately into play, but the Rebels held them until Casey scored themselves with just under six minutes to play in the first quarter. Alex Bolin’s 29-yard rushing touchdown was followed by an extra point from Luke Patterson.

The Eagles responded with two more touchdowns before the quarter closed to go up 21-7.

“Until about midway in the second quarter it was a fairly good game,” said Marples. “I thought we did the best we could do with what we was up against.”

Fairview outscored Casey 29-6 in the second quarter to go up 50-13 at the close of the first half. Casey’s lone touchdown was scored at 4:14 off a one-yard rush from Bolin.

Senior running back Alex Bolin carried the ball 116 yards Friday against Fairview. He has carried the ball 88 times this season for 883 yards total and scored 13 of the team’s 18 touchdowns, including three against Fairview.

put points on the board each quarter, but not enough to rival the Eagles. Bolin ran 31 yards to the end zone at 6:28 in the third quarter with Wyatt Bishop completing the two-point conversion for eight points total.

Bishop scored Casey’s final touchdown at 4:51 in the fourth quarter off a 44-yard run. He carried the ball for the two point conversion immediately afterwards.

“I thought they played their hearts out and I thought they fought from the first snap all the way to the end,” said Marples.

Casey moved the ball 230 yards compared to Fairview’s 529, 432 of that coming on the ground.

“Their team speed was unmatched by anyone we’ve seen this year,” Marples said, noting that two of their running backs are already signed with Division 1 colleges.

Casey also saw weakness in turnovers, losing possession in three out of five fumbles and throwing one interception.

“I would be (more concerned) if it was execution and timing wasn’t there but a lot of (the turnovers) is the kids get so tired and get hit on so much,” said Marples.

Marples explained that, unlike most opponents, his primary running backs do not rest when the team is on defense, but stay on the field as key players.

“It just wears on you and you’re getting beat on,” he said.

Bolin led the team’s rushing with 116 yards and 15 carries while also having the most tackles with nine.

Casey travels to McCreary Central Friday to open their district play.

“Winner of this game basically gets to go to the play-offs, and the other one won’t,” Marples said, noting the two teams are competing for the third seed in the district.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.

Cross Country teams continue to see times drop

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

The boys and girls cross country teams competed in Boyle County’s invitational meet Sept. 13. The runners continue to see times drop while also facing injuries.

Lone varsity male runner, Blake Durham, finished 31st with a time of 19:09.

“Blake hurt his knee and has been going to the chiropractor,” said Coach Amanda Hatter.

Durham previously ran times below the 19-minute mark this season and the coach hopes to see the injury pass quickly.

Lead varsity runner for the girls, Kelsey Arthur, continues to drop this season’s time. She finished 23rd in a field of 67 girls with a time of 23:36.

“I’m really hoping I can see her get a P.R. this year,” Hatter said, noting Arthur’s personal best is in the 22-minute range.

New varsity runner Abby Meece finished with a time of 34:44.

Hatter’s young runners, the bulk of the team, continue to bring home top honors.

The middle school boys’ team finished third out of seven teams and only one point behind second place.

Jonathan Gillock and Brandon Banks took second and third respectively out of the 82 runners in the 3K race.

The elementary boys took their second victory of the season with Mitchell Duggins, Kip Turner and Alex Wilham sweeping second, third and fourth places. The team had seven top 20 finishes out of the 75 runners competing.

The elementary girls also showed well with a second place team finish.

The team made some schedule changes this week and ran in a Mercer County all-comers meet yesterday and will not travel to Green County tomorrow. The team will then prepare for the Central Kentucky Conference meet at Danville on Tuesday.

Laura McQueen led the Lady Rebel golf team at the Boyle County tournament at Old Bridge last Saturday with a score of 83. McQueen also posted scores of 41 and 39 earlier in the week. The team’s regional match will be held Monday at Burnside State Park.

Lady Rebels golf ready for regional match

A week of low scores has the Lady Rebel golf team feeling and looking good with their regional match just around the corner.

The team hosted Southwestern on Sept. 11 for a win of 234-174.

“I was very pleased with the top four girls posting under 50,” Coach Sarah Christian said.

Laura McQueen and Emilee Vaughn led the team with 41 each while Natalie McAninch and Alyx Streeval also shot sub-50 with 45 and 47 respectively. Catherine McAninch rounded out Casey’s play with a 59.

The team then traveled to Lakewood on Sept. 13 to face Russell County’s junior varsity team and take another wide-margin victory, 224-172.

Vaughn again shot 41 while McQueen broke the 40 barrier and shot 39. Streeval and Natalie swapped scores from the previous match so Streeval finished with 45 and Natalie had 47.

Shelbie Salyers and Catherine also represented the Lady Rebels with scores of 56 and 60 respectively.

On Saturday the team traveled to Boyle County for an 18-hole tournament at Old Bridge Golf Course.

“The girls played so good,” Christian said. “I was all smiles watching them.”

McQueen led the team with an 83 and a consistent game, according to Christian. Vaughn was two strokes behind her with an 85.

Vaughn’s day did not begin as well as she would have liked with a double bogey, bogey and triple bogey.

“I told her she had an eight on her scorecard before and she still played good, so she needed to decide if she was going to look back on today and be happy or mad about the way she played,” Christian said. “She birdied the next three holes.”

Vaughn went on to break 40 on the front nine with a 37.

“If both of these girls can duplicate that at region they have a shot at being in the top 10 individuals,” said Christian.

Streeval finished the day with an even 90, just short of hitting her goal of scoring in the 80s. Natalie and Catherine rounded out the team scores to finish with a 101 and 116 respectively.

The team finished with a score of 359, eighth place out of the 18 teams competing.

The team prepares for region this week. Regional play kicks off Monday.

Boys golf team nears final stretch before regionals

The Rebel golf team competed heavily last week with two regular matches, the Kentucky Bluegrass Conference Championship and the Danville Invitational. It was the team’s last stretch of major competition leading up to their regional match.

“The physical part is going to come but the mental part is what’s messing with them,” said Coach Marshall Forbes on the team’s build up for regionals.

Justin Russell returned last week after suffering a slight knee injury. Russell’s lowest score last week was a 46.

The team traveled to Cedar Rapids last Monday to play Rockcastle County. Casey’s team score of 203 was outmatched with a 166 by the Rockets.

Eric Livengood and Justin Russell shot sub-50 scores with 47 and 48 respectively.

Also posting top scores to contribute to the team total were Colton Patterson with 53 and Hayden Bastin with 55.

J.D. Durham and Tyler Ammons also competed, finishing with scores of 57 and 60 respectively.

Three out of four of the Rebels’ top finishers shot below 50 last Tuesday at home. Casey hosted Danville at Hickory Hills Country Club and were defeated 193-156.

Bastin led the team with 46. Patterson and Livengood shot 47 and 49 respectively. Russell rounded out the scores with a 51.

Casey competed in the Kentucky Bluegrass Conference Championships at Dix River Country Club in Stanford on Thursday.

Russell shot at 46. Patterson and Bastin both shot 53 while Livengood and Durham shot 59s.

The team finished the week off on Saturday at the Danville Country Club for the Danville Invitational Tournament. Casey was one of 16 teams competing.

Patterson was the lone Rebel to shoot in double digits for the 18-hole course with a 94.

Russell and Livengood each shot 101. Bastin and Durham rounded out the scores with a 110 and 118 respectively.

The team has a match tentatively scheduled for Thursday at Pinewood Golf Course against Adair County. They will then compete in the Region 4 Tournament at Lincoln Homestead State Park on Tuesday.

10 YEARS AGO Sept. 18, 2002

The Casey County Detention Center's August report showed $19,662.50 had been saved by using inmates to perform certain tasks — laundry, cooking, landscaping and maintenance, highway trash pick-up, weed eating and other jobs.

The Casey County Board of Education agreed to sign a one-year contract with Interquest Detection Canines of Kings Mills, Ohio, at $12,636 to have random visits conducted throughout the school year at all the county's schools, including the six elementaries.

A 9-11 memorial service was held at Casey County High School to mark the one year anniversary of the terrorist attacks in New York City, Washington, D.C., and aboard a plane over Pennsylvania on Sept. 11, 2001.

Eight contestants were set to compete for 2002 Miss Casey County — Iris Peyton, daughter of Bill and Beverly Peyton of Hustonville; Andrea Clements, daughter of Debbie Clements of Dunnville and Bill Clements of Liberty; Manaki Pendleton, daughter of Rita Pendleton of Liberty; Cassandra Roy, daughter of Elizabeth Roy of Liberty; Hannah Atwood, daughter of Michael and Lylia Atwood of Wilson Ridge; Bridget Atwood, daughter of J.C. and Karen Atwood of Liberty; Dana Rigney, daughter of Dean and Dee Rigney of Liberty; and Drema Murphy, daughter of Dwight and Donna Murphy of Dunnville.

Bro. Carroll Posey, CSC, celebrated his 40th anniversary as a Brother of the Holy Cross. He had been a teacher, coach and administrator most of his active life.

Dr. Darin Cundiff opened Cundiff Chiropractic Center on Aug. 19, the same day as the adjacent Cundiff Wellness Center opened.

Hill's Pharmacy, owned by Steve Hill, moved to a new smaller location to better serve customers on Trammel Street. The business had operated from the Liberty Square Shopping Center since 1978.

Pillsbury cinnamon rolls were 99 cents; Cheerios were two boxes for $4; and russet potatoes were $5 for two 10-lb. bags at Food Center.

20 YEARS AGO Sept. 16, 1992

The Midwest Pacific Hardware Forest Products Inc. closed temporarily.

The Liberty City Council voted 3-2 to disconnect its utility services offered to the Casey County War Memorial Hospital.

The Casey County War Memorial Hospital Tax District Board voted to start the necessary steps to re-open the facility as a primary care center.

Ten contestants were competing for the title of Miss Casey County — Kelly Bastin, Stacy Brown, Alice Sandusky, Karen Buck, Leslie Atwood, Lee Ann Terry, Craylon Mills, Kasey Zachary, Christine Tucker, and Jessica Terry.

Students in Lou Wanda Davis' EMG class at Liberty Elementary and Sharon Price's TMH class at Casey County High School took a field trip to Herbert Davis' pumpkin patch at Rheber. The 24 students were each allowed to choose a pumpkin to take home and were treated to a hayride by Davis.

LeeAnn Terry, and her sister, Jessica Terry, were winners in the MDA pageant in Campbellsville. LeeAnn was second runner-up in the 16-23 age division and the winner overall in the most beautiful category for ages 9-23. Jessica was the winner in the 16-23 age group and was also named the most photogenic in the 16-23 group. They are the daughters of Larry and Audrey Terry of Dunnville.

The Casey County High School Marching Band finished third in a competition at Taylor County.

Casey County Children's Center hosted a going-away party for Shelly Wesley, who had worked at the day care center the last seven years.

Butternut bread was 79 cents a loaf; Welch's grape jelly was $1.49; and Kraft deluxe American singles were $2.49 at Abe's Pic-Pac.

Emma Elizabeth Cannon, 56, a retired Casey County teacher, died Sept. 24 at Lexington Central Baptist Hospital.

A little rain on Saturday didn't keep thousands of people from gathering in downtown Liberty to enjoy the Casey County Apple Festival.

Apple Festival contest results — Apple Granny best costume was Marguerite McBeath with an "apple of my eye" costume; Ora McDonald won the best dish category with their old-fashioned apple pie; Mary Terry had the most grandchildren with 28; and 38-year-old Carol Coe was the youngest grandmother.

The winner of the frog jumping contest was John Coffey with his frog, "Green Crusher."

Steven R. Hayes and Carole Wethington tied for winner for height of their throws in the haybale throwing contest. Debbie Miller won the women's division with a throw of nine feet in height.

Billy Rowland, 8, won the greasy pig contest in the 5-8 age division; Kenneth Redden won the 9-12; Linda Emerson won the 8-15 girls; and Karen Wright won the 16 and up division.

Phelps School float won first place and won $225 in the parade.

Two hours and 10 minutes after the start of "Hell or High Water River Race" in Middleburg, Ron Gouge of Stanford and William Wethington II of Casey County paddled their canoe under the Green River bridge on Ky. 70 in Liberty to win the second annual event.

McIntosh apples were 99 cents for a 3-lb. bag; macaroni salad was 95 cents per pint; and Hy-Top coffee creamer was $1.09 for a 16-oz. jar at Food World.

Mrs. Russell (Chestine) Wall was chosen as Master Farm Homemaker of 1972-73 from the 10 county Lake Cumberland area. The contest was part of the University of Kentucky Extension Homemakers Program. Wall lives on a 112-acre farm in the Mt. Olive area. The family has a general farming program with tobacco and dairy. The family includes three daughters and one son.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Dick celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sept. 10 at their home in Bethelridge. The couple was married Sept. 9 on a Saturday in Somerset at the home of the groom's uncle, Judge R.C. Tarter. Mr. Dick had retired from the W.S. Allen Company Store after 28 years.

Geri Phillippe, Arthritis Campaign chairman for Casey County, was seeking volunteers to work the campaign's Arthritis Victory March. The county's goal was to raise $850 by doing a door to door march.

Casey High's cross country team defeated Russell County. The team was coached by Danny Haynes and included the following members — Chester Durham, Richard Durham, Larry Peavey, James Hogue, Makes and Kenneth Murphy, Garland Roy, Stanley Murphy, Darrell Barlow, Charles Lay, David Patterson, Bruce Atwood, Alton Thomas, and Bob Foster.

Ladies winter coats were $29-$49; children's hi cuts shoes were $11.99; and men's stay-pressed work shirts and pants were $8 at the Louisville Store in Liberty.

Looking into local family history

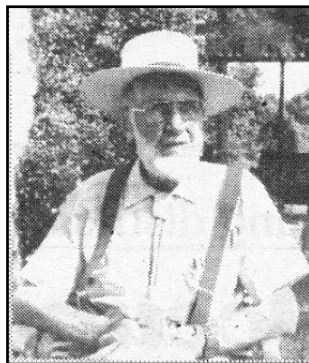

Originally published in the Sept. 13, 1962 issue of The Casey County News

This week we have a letter from a Mrs. C.H. Peden of Glasgow who wishes some information on the family history of Edens. We made a quick check of the deed books and found the name first entered in 1814 and last mentioned in 1850. They lived around Jonathan Fork, and there seems to have been three brothers.

We mention this largely because this is a weekly occurrence. Last week, Mrs. Will Tom Sandusky was helping a man in McPherson, Kan., on the Sandusky family.

What few of us realize is that Casey County was a migratory route from Virginia, West Virginia, the Carolinas and other states. They came up through Cumberland Gap around 1800, stayed here a while and then scattered to Missouri, Kansas, Texas and other states. Mark Twain's family lived at Clementsville a spell before moving to Missouri.

establish a family history, and we have been disappointed many times that our people have so little interest in the matter. Many of the older people can remember where their grandfather migrated from, who they were, and when they came. In another 20 years it will be too late to trace this back except with difficulty.

We would encourage one or more members of each family to work up a family record at odd times and put it down on paper. It should be an interesting hobby, as well as useful information in later years.

Sometime last year a lady who uses a typewriter well and must be well educated asked for information on a particular family. We immediately wrote her and recommended that we would discourage searching too deeply because our information was that the early settlers were either moonshiners or horse thieves, or both. However, in later years they got the faith and built a local church and had a strong hand in another.

She fooled us. Instead of being insulted, she asked for more. In time we have done a bit of searching for her among the records. We got fooled too. This particular family gathered up land like acorns, and undoubtedly became quite prosperous.

Public Service Announcement
Lake Cumberland Community Action Agency Inc. in conjunction with Casey County Local Community Action Council will hold its annual election for the purpose of electing an individual to serve as low-income representative on the Lake Cumberland Community Action Agency Board of Directors. The election will be held:

DATE: Friday, Oct. 5
TIME: 10:00 a.m.
LOCATION: Outreach Office
Article III, Section 2, Item B of LCCAA By-laws outlines the electoral process and reads as follows:

B. Representatives of the Poor. At least one-third of the directors of the corporation shall be persons democratically selected by the poor community.
Such representatives need not be poor themselves, but must truly represent the interests of the poor community. These directors shall serve for a term of one year and may be reelected. The poor community shall hold democratic elections for these positions at least thirty days prior to each annual meeting of the Board of Directors. The term of these directors shall begin at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors.

All persons planning to vote for a Low-Income Representative must provide proof of income due to voting eligibility requirements.

This project is funded, in part, under a contract with the Cabinet with funds from Community Service Block Grant Act of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Man charged with possession of child pornography

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

A Bethelridge man has been indicted by a Casey County grand jury for possessing and distributing images of children in sexual situations.

Franklin Gene Clark, 29, of 3456 South Ky. 837, is accused of 20 counts of possession of matter portraying a sexual performance by a minor and two counts of distribution of matter portraying a sexual performance by a minor.

The grand jury, meeting on Thursday, indicted Clark on charges that he distributed the material on at least two separate occasions from Jan. 1 to Aug. 1 of this year, when he was arrested and charged.

The Kentucky State Police Electronic Crime Branch reportedly received information that an email address registered to Clark had sent sexually explicit images of a child to an out-of-state recipient, and during an Aug. 1 interview with state investigators, Clark reportedly admitted to possessing and distributing the material.

At least 100 files containing pornographic child images were found inside Clark's residence, according to court records. Investigators also recovered from Clark's home several electronic devices — including an Xbox 360 and PlayStation 3 — which they believe were used in the crimes, according to court records. Equipment used to allegedly distribute and possess child pornography was seized and taken to KSP's Forensic Laboratory for examination.

Investigators also recovered from Clark's home at least one magazine, which possibly contained pornographic images of children, records show.

The grand jury also indicted 20 others:

- Jamie Lee Sharp was indicted on three counts of second-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument. Sharp is accused of cashing two checks from First Christian Church on May 12 at the Tobacco Out-let for $369.54 and for cashing a check for $150 on Aug. 27 on John Whited's account at Farmer's Deposit Bank.

al stress control dogs, and specialized facility dogs.

But the cost to train a dog alongside a veteran at the VetDogs headquarters in Smithtown, N.Y. is about $30,000 a year, Coppage said. And that's where the sale of the CD comes in.

'This Ragged Old Flag'

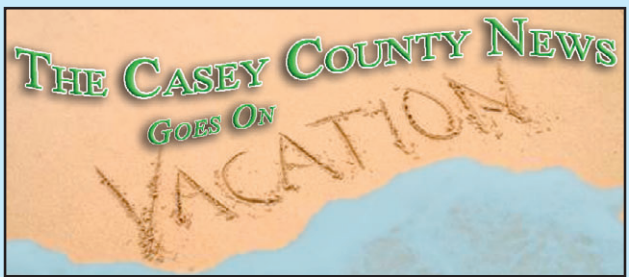

The six-song CD, entitled "This Ragged Old Flag," sells for $10 and features original songs by Terry Wooley, Rita Burton, Cop-

Coppage said that since the release of the CD last week, orders are pouring in from as far away as Georgia, California and New York.

In addition, the CD will be for sale this week during the Apple Festival at the VFW booth and at Stage One where Wooley will perform. It can also be purchased online at iTunes and Amazon.com, Coppage said.

A DVD version of This Ragged Old Flag will be on sale Saturday and it will cost
